		User#1	User#2	User#3	#User#4	User#5	User#6 via prototype link
Task #1	Navigation	User 1 was able to locate the menu bar seamlessly right away	Success seamlessly	Success seamlessly	Success seamlessly	Success seamlessly	"United States of America" is a bit difficult to read on mobile. If this is a common feedback, maybe consider increasing the font size by a bit
Task #2	Social Media	user 1 located the "social media" tap under the secondary navigation under "about us" without hesitation	User choose the social media icons on the bottom of homepage, had no trouble scrolling through the page	user 3 scrolled down the homepage to lookfor social media, he mentioned it's usually at the footer area	note: user's habit on clicking the dropdown arrow	user access the social media through secondary menu bar under "about us" and then went to homepage for the social icons.	I loooove the design and colors for this part, however the text is hard to read at first glance, possibly due to the background or transparency of the white box
Task #3	Locate/Search "Coronavirus Resources"	user was able to locate the topic right away under the resources tab	Success seamlessly	Success seamlessly	User also click on the hero image with subject title for "coronavirus resources"	Success seamlessly	'It would be nice to have streamlined icons that relate to the titles. For example, instead of a house for news, maybe consider the icon that you used for News in the hamburger dropdown menu? This way the user can identify that both sections are the same
Task #4	Return to homepage	Success seamlessly	Success seamlessly	User 3 managed to return homepage in short period of time but tend to click on the logo in secondary icon overlay, and it wasn't direct to anywhere	users have accomplished but attempt to click on the logo in overlay menu couple times	Success seamlessly	Last thing I noticed was that this sign up portion was a bit difficult to read due to the coloration. Perhaps test the color accessibility to see if it passes? You may need to make the text bigger or the "Email address" text a bit darker
Note:		the name on the logo is too small to read, same as the bottom footer, there are some text doesn't seem to be readable unless I scale it up, but usually I dont read the footer anyways so I guess it's not a big deal.	Maybe to have some kinda of reaction when I click on the right place that will be helpful for the user to know if they get to the destination or not. overall is very neat, navigation seems easy to use. I was tempted to tap on the search icon on homepage tho. The text on homepage, seems to be a bit hard to read and cluttering. The logo should be able to take me back to the mainpage. But over all works very good and clean.	would be nice to have some kinda of indicator the stories can be swipe left of right for more.	Logo shold be a home button, and some texts are hard to read, seems to be too small for the phone version.	Hero page headline seems a little bit hard to read at first. But it's seems to be a very cool and well structured app	I think it looks great! The colors that you chose are super welcoming and there is a very noticeable element of consistency throughout the experience which is really nice.

Iteration		-link all logo to homepage -increase font size -increase footer font size	-add animation to all 4 of the mission -add a screen page for "coronavirus resources" -change content card into white background with drop shadow instead of a frame block -increase distance between icons and secondary tab titles -do I need the extra drop down arrow in overlay nav?	-add icon/message to swipe horizontally for stories -increase the font size in secondary nav bar	-instead of an triangle, maybe just line figure to keep it simpler	-new image for hero -move the content text underneath hero image?? -change color for secondary nav to color block, more contrast?	-iterate news icon -enlarge "USA" underneath DOL -darken text in newsletter sign up in footer area -enlarge font size in footer
